

ID	DESCRIPTION
1	The error system must be able to indicate the file where an error originates.
2	The error system must be able to indicate the line where an error originates.
3	The error system must be able to indicate the position on the line where an error originates.
4	The error system must be able to indicate the code snippet in which an error originates.
5	The error system must be able to indicate the type of the error such as described in Chapter 4.
6	The error system must be able to indicate information to solve the error.
6.1	In the case of syntactic errors, the reason for the error will be indicated.
6.2	In the case of semantic errors, if the cause is conditioned by another element, a reference to this element must appear in the cause of the error.